1 John 3:19-21

testimonies of His presence

“Others before me have gone much further into these holy mysteries than I have done, but if my fire is not large it is yet real, and there may be those who can light their candle at its flame.”

AW Tozer

It seems that tears are the expression of the outermost of all states of being – of joy and sorrow, of peace and turmoil, of pain and healing. It seems so especially when we meet with God and recognize that our being cannot contain the glory of the encounter – it ever so often resorts to taking us to the floor in a pool of ‘holy’ tears, as if the flood of living water that enters our spirit had to find a place to overflow through our natural being. Let us be a people who dare to allow God to take us to our outermost states and to be overwhelmed by the inexpressible magnitude of encountering and being utterly loved and transformed by the almighty God, creator and saviour of the universe.
